

Mas del Corral: The Heart of Our Winery

Celler Cesca Vicent crafts its wines exclusively from grapes grown on the Mas del Corral estate, a unique 18-hectare property with more than 11 hectares dedicated to vineyards.

Location and Environment

The estate is divided into two parcels: Mas Cremat, oriented to the south-east, and Maria Prunera, to the north, separated by a dense pine forest. Both are part of the Montsant River basin, traversed by several ravines on its right bank, including the Guiamet and the Merla Ravine.

With terraced soils and slopes exceeding 10%—reaching up to 48% in some cultivated areas—Mas d'en Corral is a reflection of the rugged and distinctive landscape of Priorat. The lowest part of the estate, near the Montsant River, features alluvial soils, adding diversity and richness to the vineyards. The estate enjoys a southeast orientation, which is key to ensuring balanced grape ripening.

Planting Systems

The vineyard combines different planting methods:

- ☑️ Terraces with one or two rows of vines in steep areas.
- ☑️ Wide terraces in the lower part, close to the river.

The vines are trained using the double cordon Royat system, with a spacing of 2.50 m between rows and 1.10 m between plants, ensuring an optimal balance between production and quality.

A Unique Microclimate

Mas del Corral is located in a warm Mediterranean zone. Its southeast orientation, proximity to the Montsant River, and surrounding forest create significant temperature fluctuations between day and night. This phenomenon contributes to a slow and balanced grape ripening process, enhancing the aromatic concentration and freshness of the wines.

Grape Varieties: Tradition and Adaptation

Our cultivation philosophy blends respect for traditional Priorat varieties with the integration of well-adapted foreign grape varieties:

🍇 Native varieties: Red Garnacha and Carignan.

🍇 International varieties: Cabernet Sauvignon, Syrah, and Merlot, planted in the 1980s and now fully adapted.

🍇 White varieties: White Grenache and Macabeo, in a small but select production.

At Mas del Corral, every parcel tells a story, every soil type adds unique nuances, and every harvest is the result of our commitment to quality and sustainability.
